'The class and the facility were both very good, with plenty of good info provided in a way that was not boring or difficult to grasp with good hands on training.'
Andy Peeler, IT Manager WLTX-TV, Columbia, SC

Today more than ever, you need credentials to validate your professional expertise and stand out in a competitive landscape. Avid certification provides an acknowledged standard of excellence-the best way to demonstrate your proficiency in Avid products and solutions.

Avid certification is a tangible, industry-recognized credential that can help you advance your career and provide measurable benefits to your employer. When you're Avid certified, you not only help to accelerate and validate your professional development, but you can also improve your productivity and project success.

Avid offers certification programs for Media Composer (User and Expert Certification), Pro Tools (Operator and Expert Certification for Music, Live Sound, Post Production and Worksurface), and Avid Certified Support Representative (ACSR) (Editing, Support, and Elite Certification).
